THE HEADLESS TRUNK.

A SHOCKING SENSATION IN ST.

VOL. XVII.

Two Ecglishmen Arrive at the Southern Hotel One of Whom Disappears, and is Sub-sequenty Found in a Trunk.—"So Ferish All Traitors to the Cause."

St. Louis, April 14 .- A sensation was caused at the Southern hotel, between 11 and 12 o'clock to-day, by the discovery of the mutilated body of a man packed in a trunk which was taken out of a room. The stench from the truck caused the discovery. The hotel register shows that on March 30th a gentleman registered as Walter H. Lennox Maxwell, M. D., from London, and was assigned to that 700m. On opening the trunk it was found that the head of the man was severed from his body, and written on a paper inside the trusk were the words, "So perish all traitors to the great cause," The trunk and its contents were taken to the morgue.

THE MYSTERIOUS MEN.

MEXWell is described as a very girlish looking blonde young man, wearing a dark woolly cut away suit of English stuff. His face was clean shaved and he wore his hard. face was clean shaved and he wore his hair bang fashion, not parting it at all. He was seen in company frequently with a dark looking man about five feet ten inches in height. This gentleman registered as C. Arthur Preller, London, England. A delegram had previously been received from Preller, asking whether Maxwell was a guest at the house. He was answered in the aftirmative, and he soon came on. Both men occupied the same room. Maxwell left the hotel a week ago Sunday night, but he had paid his full week's board promptly, and it was supposed that he would return any day.

THE HORRILLE SMELL.

THE HORRI at it filled the receptacle. On the side unk, over the head of the corpse, was ated in large letters the words: perish all traitors to the great cause." The runk and its ghastly contents were immediately hurried to Four Courts. In another runk was found Mawell's London address, at 14 Paper Euilding Temple, London, and an envelope addressed to Rev. D. G. A. Lewis, B. A. Curator, of St. Paul; Morley Leeds, Yorkshire, England. He came over on the steamer Cephalonia from England. THE TENEMENT WRECK.

Still at Work Clearing Away the Debris No Bodies Found. New York, April 14,—Gangs of men worked all night in the ruins of the eight fallen tene-ments on west Sixty-second street, but turned ments on west Sixty-second street, but turned up nothing save bricks and broken timbers. No dead or injured were found, and there was no sign of life about the ragged heaps of the wreek. The firemen are of opinion that there are bedies in the ruins. The hope grows stronger, however, that this may not be so. Neither at the hospital nor at the police station had any enquiries been made for missing persons up to 10 o'clock this morning.

A Four-Story Building in Chicago Burned. CHICAGO, April 14.—The four-story stone and brick building Nos. 83 and 85 Wabash avenue, took fire at 9 o'clock this morning, and together with its contents was totally destroyed. It was occupied by McLean & Retterer, hardware; Dean & Foster, druggists and sundries; and Smith & Patterson, photographera's supplies. The total loss is placed and sundries; and Smith & Patterson, pholographers' supplies. The total loss is placed at nearly $200,000, as follows: Building, $80,000, insurance $60,000; Smith & Patterson, $30,000, insurance $24,000; McLeon & Retterer, $40,000, fully insured; Schott & Co., dealers in toys, $25,000; fully insured; Dean & Foster, $10,000, fully insured; Lowenthal, Raufman & Co., tobacco dealers, $20,000, insurance $15,000; the Review printing company, $20,000, insurance $15,000; John R. The Comptroller Denies the Right of the Marshal to Make Appointments.

Washington, April 14.—Judge Durham, first comptroller of the treasury, has given an opinion in regard to the accounts of Lot Wright, United States marshal for the southern district of Ohio, for expenses incurred in conducting the election for members of congress held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in Oytober, 1884. The account is mostly for the payment of deputy marshals. The comptroller, in a lengthy opinion, says:

Some of said deputies have been paid for nine days' services; some for three, four and more days, and a very large number for two days. Some of these deputies were not citizens of Ohio, and some were citizens of Hamilton county, but not of the city of Cincinnati. My predecessor had decided before I came into office, that said deputies must be voters of the state and city and that it was illegal to appoint a deputit preceessor had decided before I came into office, that said deputies must be voters of the state and city, and that it was illegal to appoint a deputy who was not a voter of the city, etc. In this I fully concur, and I go further. I believe the spirit of the law is to take said deputies from the respective precincts in which they vote.

After reviewing in detail the facts that Marshal Wright appointed an extraordinary number of deputies, and many of them served three, five and nine days' pay for which no good reason has been shown, Judge Durham continues:

continues:

As an original proposition I should, in this case, decide that the marshal was not allowed to have any deputies except on the day of election where there was no registration, unless there was clear proof that it was necessary to protect the officers in the fair counting of the ballots, after the election was over, and to preserve the peace, and then only so long as might be necessary to give that protection; but, as before said, Mr Wright, I suppose, acted on the custom of allowing for the pay of these deputies the day after election, and I shall not disturb the same, but the account will be adjusted upon the basis of rejecting the claim for pay of said deputies who were not voters in the city of Cincinnati at the time of his appointment, and rejecting all claims for more than two day's service of deputies, unless there shall be shown by proof of the necessity for the s.me.

TRYING DR. WALES.

The Civil Court Decides that it Has Washington, April 14.—The district supreme court, in general term to-day, passed upon the application of ex-Surgeon General Phillip S. Wales, United States navy, for a writ of habeas corpus upon the secretary of ravy to cause his discharge from the alleged illegal arrest, in which he is held by that officer. Justice James delivered the opinion. The court held that Wales was only under technical arrest. The order itself showed that he was simply ordered to confine himself to the lim-No Power of Relief,

Dr. Wales was not under restraint except so far as he chose to obey the military orders. He could disobey it, and leave as freely as any person in the district, but was under liability to answer for it. He preferred, however, to stay rather than endure the consequences of leaverness of leaverne rather than endure the consequences of leav rather than endure the consequences of leaving. It was shown, however, that he was not under that kind of restraint from which a writ of habeas corpus would relieve him. That writ contemplated actual physical restraint. The application for habeas corpus was accordingly denied.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CABINET COUNCIL.

ring the Fleet Into Russian Waters, Troops Alghanistan and Preparing for the Inevita Hour-The Incidents of the Different Capitals-The Prince in Ireland

LONDON, April 14.- A special dispatch from Berlin to the Paris journal Des Debats says that England and Russia have not sought the good offices of Germany as a mediator in the Afghan difficulty, and Germany has not offered to act in this capacity. The cabinet has been summoned to immediate council, in consequence of the receipt by the government of further important dispatches in regard to the Afghan question. A Teheran dispatch says that Sir Peter Lumsden lost seventeen camp followers and fifty mules in the recent snow storm. The Englishmen are all safe, but many tents and much of the baggage was lost. It is hoped, however, that the records will be recovered. The Standard says the czar has within the last forty-eight hours telegraphed to Berlin an expression of his desire for peace. It is believed that Lord Dufferin will urge that no defor the defense of Afghanistan. Preparations for war continue with increasing vigor. A force of extra workmen has been engaged at the Chatham dockyard to-day.

THE RESULT OF THE COUNCIL. The cabinet was in session an hour and twenty minutes. Immediately after its adjournment Earl Granville, secretary of state for foreign affairs, had a prolonged interview with Muscus Turkish ambassador, and Fehmi Pasha, special envoy from Turkey.

Lloyd's insurance premiums on bottoms for the Black sea, the sea of Azof and the Baltic sea, have been doubled.

and four million cartridges have been landed at Bombay.

The Standard complains of the delay caused by communicating with Sir Peter Lumsden. The government, it says, ought to depend upon its own accounts of events and to ignore the accounts of Russian officers, which are sure to contradict the English accounts. While we are collecting evidence Russia is pushing her troops forward. Unhappily there is news from Russia to indicate that a collision will be avoided.

The military preparations of the British government continue unabated. The government has decided to purchase four more steamers similar to the America, and to equip them as arm decruisers. The number of British men of war are now being prepared for service is so great that is believed that active officers cannot be found for is so great that is believed that active officers cannot be found for them all, and that it will be necessary to resort to the retired list. Gibraltar and other British strongholds see to be put in a compulsta state of defense. are to be put in a complete state of defense. Additional supplies of torpedoes of the latest approved pattern are being forwarded to all the naval stations, both at home and abroad.

The British foreign office has sent directions to the British minister at Teheran to organize a courier service, to fill up the gaps in the telegraph lines by which communication is had with Sir Peter Lumsden. MR. GLADSTONE'S STATEMENT.

MR. GLADSTONE'S STATEMENT. MR. GLADSTONE'S STATEMENT.
Mr. Gladstone, in the house of commons this afternoon, stated that word had been received from Sir Peter Lumsdon which showed that there was no confirmation of the report that the Russians had advanced to Murghad river after the battle of Penjdeh. Mr. Gladstone said that the result of the government's communications with Russia, concerning its reported advance, amounted to a renewal of Russia's assurance that no such advance will occur, if the issue of the contrary orders and a declaration of the contrary intention can prevent it.

A Teheran dispatch states that papers found in the domicile of Ayoub Khan, ex-ameer of Afghanistan, confirms the report of anti-Eng-lish intrigues at Herat.

The Russian military organ, the Swet, sums up the situation thus: "Forward to Herat. Now is the time."

The Times thinks that Germany has solid

The Times thinks that Germany has solid reasons for wishing to prevent war, which might involve the whole of Europe, in which case Germany would probably be obliged to fight in order to retain what she already possesses, rather than gain additional power. Moreover, the maintenance of Russis's financial credit is supremely important to the moneyed interest of Berlin.

Military movements in Alghanistan are exmoneyed interest of Berlin.

Military movements in Afghanistan are exceedingly difficult at present on account of the almost unprecedented severity of the weather. Incessant storms of snow and hall on the mountains and rain in the valleys have swellen the rivers into floods which are imresults by any means of transportation with which General Lumsden's forces are supplied. The weather is exceptionally cold, and this fact tells more severely on the British officers and Indian troops, who are from the south, than upon the Russians, who come from the porth.

The Standard, editorially, says: "The Aighans have learned which of their neighbors is the stronger, and will base their friendship upon the usual grounds of Aighan morality. The route lies open to Herat, and in fine, no more trouble need be taken about negotiations, since the award has sattled everything. We doubt whether English people will allow Russia to peacefully enjoy her ill-gotten gains."

The Suez Canal.

Pans, April 14.—M. DeLesseps declares that if the international Suez canal conference, which is about to assemble here, mixes up the question of the neutrality of Egypt with that of the neutrality of the Suez canal, the result will be a total failure of the conference.

THE IRISH RIOT.

The Further Events of the Prince's Visit to Ireland, DUBLIN, April 14 .- The Dublin Daily Express to-day, in commenting on the riot at Mallow, last evening, on the occasion of the visit of the prince and princess of Wales, says: The childishness of the affair plainly shows that the nationalist section of the Irish people, whose doctrine is home rule, are totally unfit to govern themselves.

The Irish Times, independent conservative, says.

The rioters were imported from Cork by the nationalist leaders. In Cork the city is splendidly decorated with flags, evergreens and triumphant arches in henor of the prince and princess of Wales. The mayor has issued a special proclamation appealing to the masses to preserve order during the prince's visit. There is, however, great excitement, and the police have been heavily reinforced.

great excitement, and the police have been heavily reinforced.

The prince and princess of Wales, on their way to Cork to day, received an enthusiastic reception at Lismore, in the counties of Cork and Waterford. Three hundred laborers presented an address of welcome. At Dungarvan in Waterford county, when the train bearing the party passed, all the vessels in the bay lowered their flags. At Kilmacthomas, when the royal party went by, a black flag was hoisted over the temperance hall, but the loyalists made a good demonstration. Prince and princess then went to Curraghmore. The prince of Wales party, while going to and from Curraghmore, were generally given a respectful reception. Thousands of people are parading the streets of Cork this evening.

Perfect order provails.

A procession comprising over 1,000 men, marched through the principal streets of Cork to night, with loyal banners flying and hands playing national airs. A counter demonstration was organized at various points by parties of nationalists, and some serious disturbances took place. Hundreds of windows were smashed, stones and clubs were hurled at the loyalists, and in some cases the line of the procession was broken through, after exciting fights with fists and sticks. The police were at first powerless to restrain the rioters, but the reserves were called out, and the course of the procession was siterward kept clear. erfect order prevails.

FRANCE AND CHINA An Unexpected Huch in the Peace Negotiations. London, April 14.—Dispatches from Shang-bai received this afternoon state that there is a hitch in the final arrangements for the execuhitch in the final arrangements for the execution of a definite treaty of peace between France and China, owing to some concessions which China asks, and which M. Patenotre, French ambassador, refuses to grant.

A Hong Kong dispatch to the Times states that the difficulty encountered in adjusting the terms of the treaty of peace between China and France, is found to be of such a serious nature that the French government is seriously considering the advisability of substituting M. Bourre for M. Patenotre, present

Walks Into His Library, Where He Si's and Reads the Morning Papers—A Bulletin for Mrs. Grant's Edidostion—A Day of Varied Interest With the Patient. New York, April 14 .- From midnight until 6 o'clock there was quiet in the Grant house. Then the general arose. His throat was treated and he was dressed. While Dr. Douglas was writing the first bulletin in the library at 6:30 a. m., the general walked into he room and sat down near the physician.

When the bulletin was finished Dr. Douglas read it to General Grant, and said:

"Is that right?" Said the general: "Yes, that's right." He brightened with the morning hours, and t one time remarked that he felt better then he had in two weeks. An incandescent electric light is used to examine the general's throat. Small storage batteries hold the supply, and it is communicated to a light wire along a slender rod, at the end of which is a small lamp that about an inch long. This as about an inch long. This small lamp is introduced into the mouth, and illuminates the parts effectively. A stem is used, in which a small treadle dynamo is used and the use of chemicals is avoided. The following is the 2:45 p.m. bulletin:

General Grant continues in the improved condition noted in the last bulletin. Pulse 72, temperature normal. The general, at the moment of writing this, is sitting in the library reading the morning papers. He has not complained of pain during the morning.

General Badeau left the house between four and five o'clock. He said that General Grant was certainly stronger, and at that time sat in was certainly stronger, and at that time sat in the library with his legs crossed reading the morning papers. This morning the general's throat was easy, but a trifle sore. He desired this condition to continue, and spoke little. Soon after Dr. Douglas had issued the 6:30 a. m. bulletin, and while Mrs. Grant was in an adjoining room, the general bade the servant to bring him a pad of writing paper. On it he wrote a bulletin as follows:

"The doctors tell me I am better this morning. I am better. I am better than I have been in two weeks."

U. S. Grant.
Having so written, the general handed his bulletin to the servant, and told him he should carry it to Mrs. Grant, who was sitting in the library within sight of her husband. The servant delivered the message with formality. Mrs. Grant read it, showed it to Dr. Douglas, and both laughing, entered the sick room, where pleasantries passed, the general joining with a smile. In the evening Golonal Grant remarked that his father had walked more during the day than for several days. During during the day than for several days. During the day he had signed a business paper, but this evening he is a trifle less bright, because this evening he is a trifle less bright, because of the fatigue resulting from his activity through the day.

New York, April 14.—A gentleman who is thoroughly conversant with General Grant's ailment, said to-night: "The marvellous improvement in the general's condition is not at all surprising to me. He may live two or three weeks, and he may live four months. If he survives until the early part of summer he will be taken out of the eity to the mountains probably, as I do not think the sea air would agree with him. not think the sea air would agree with him.
If he had strength enough I think he would like to go to California. If he improves in the same ratio during the next few days, he will be riding in the park this week. He does not require so much morphia now, as only six drops of solution were injected to-night, in-stead of the customary ten drops."

General Grant, during the afternoon and evening, walked several times from his bed room to his library, and enjoyed the company of the different members of his family. At 10 o'clock he retired, and since that time he has been sleeping in his chair. His cough is not troublesome, and the secretion of the mucus was slight. His pulse and temperature are unchanged, and there is at present promise for him of a quiet night. SETTLING THE DEAL.

Going yesterday to the hotel where Curtis boarded he met him and charged him with stealing the money. Curtis drew his pistol and fired a shot at Emanuel, but missed his mark. Emanuel then drew his revolver and fired five shots into Curtis, killing him on the spot. Mrs. Curtis and her two children rushed into the room just as Emanuel fired the first time, the bullet grazing her head and passing on into her husband's breast. Emanuel surrendered to the officers.

More About the Joyce Massacre.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 14.—[Special.]—The excitement over the burning of Mr. Perrin Joyce's house, near here, with its four inmates, continues unabated. At the coroner's inquest sufficient evidence developed to justify the verdict of murder and areon by persons unknown. Mr. Joyce re-cently sold some land, and was known to have several thousand dollars in the house. Three suspicious strangers were proviling about the locality the day before the crime was committed. At a citizens meeting a committee of thirty picked men was appointed to hunt down the criminals. The victims murdered and burned besides old man Joyce were his daughter, Margaret, his little grandson, and Mary Rice.

Incendiaries Arrested. SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 14.-[Special.]-On the night of the 22d of February last the Finger-ville cotton factory, about fifteen miles from here, in this county, was burned. The orgin of the free could not be accounted for, save by incendiaries. About ten days ago Officer J. B. King, of this place, got onto trail, and this morning brought to the county jail Enech and Albert Foster, colored, as two of the parties implicated. A warrant has been issued for Tandy Cannon, colored, as another one having had a hand in the crime. The whole affair indicates some very ugly things, yet to be brought to light.

The Military Spirit in Selma. SEIMA, Ala., April 14.—[Special.]—Interest in military matters is at high tide in this city. The miniary matters is at high tide in this city. The third Alabama regiment was formed to-day of the following companies. The Talladega Rifles, Cale ra; the Morgan Rifles, Uniontown; the Pelham Guards; the Pettus Rifles of Selma; the Guards; the Demopolis Guards and the John Pelham Ri-fles. The staff officers elected are as follows: S. W. John, of Selms, colonel; W. E. Young, of Talladega, lieutenant-colonel; W. R. Oliver, of Calera, major. A prize drill between several companies takes place at the Guards' armory to-night.

The Congaree Bridges, COLUMBIA, S. C., April 14.—(Special.)—A move-ment is on foot which, if successful, will accom-plish great things for Columbia. It is proposed that the city shall buy the two bridges over the Congaree river and make them free Lexington is the chief feeder for Columbia, and it seems absurd and unjust to place a restriction on her trade by main taining toll bridges, which really do operate as an embargo on traffic to a certain extent. The bridges ought to be owned by Columbia and kept up as free bridges. Were this compassed the trade of the city would mprove immediately

The Palmette Yeoman, COLUMBIA, S. C., April 14 .- [Special.] - Mr. Charlie McJunkin, son of the deceased editor, and pro-prietor of the Palmetto Yeoman, has decided to continue the publication of the paper. Mr. Dow's efforts to stop her were ineffeetual, and she got alongside the track just as the engine came up. Mr. Dow was knocked senseless the buggy was torn to pieces, and the horse wa very badly injured.

Banking Facilities Wanted.

FIBERRON, Ga., April 14 -- [Special.] -- One of the keepest felt wants of our town now is banking fa cili ies. Merchants and other business men are put to a great deal of trouble especially at this season of the year on account of having no bank in the place. The business of the town would certainly authorize the establishment of a bank with a capital of fifty thousand dollars, and there is no do but what it would pay handsome dividends. Prominent merchants say it would inc ness at least twenty-five per cent in the place be sides being a very great convenience.

COLUMBUS YESTERDAY.

COLUMBUS, Ga , April 14 .- [Special]-The Co lumbus fire department is rather divided on the manner of having the annual parade and contest. Many of the younger firemen are anxious to have a grand affair and to meet in friendly contest the erack companies of the state. The older firemen who have done service in begging money from the citizens and council to defray the expense of these annual jubilees, do not care to undertake the work sgain. They met with so little encouregement from the council of last year that many of them swore in wrath that they would never again ask that body for a dollar for the annual parade. This state of affairs should not exist. Certainly the Columbus firemen do enough valuable service during the year to entitle them to one day of fun and frolic, The city council could do no handsomer thing than to voluntarily appropriate $500 at its pext meeting to aid the firemen in getting up such a display as would be alike creditable to the department and the city. The department was never in better condition than now.

lump of coal falling on it in one of the north Alabama coal mines was brought to his home in Brownsville, by his mother this morning. McBride killed another white man named Fus sels in Brownsville a few years ago, and was serying a term in the penitentiary when the accident occurred. He has been pardoned by the governor of Alabama. It is said that Welsh, also from Brownsville, and serving a term for murder, will be pardoned by the gover-nor on account of being hurt at the same time. The case of the state against S. M. Dixon charged with the murder of J. O. Christian, was called in Harris superior court this afternoon, and continued on account of the absence of important witnesses. Lypn's case will be called to-morrow morning. Quite a number of witnesses have been summoned from this city to prove the quarrelsome disposition of Beall. Eight hundred bales of cotton were sold in this narket to-day, which is quite unusual for this late in the season. There are now only about two ousand bales stock on hand in the warehouses. Those members of the First Baptist church cossessing musical talent, will meet at the residence of Mr. J. M. Leary Courier: Last Saturday night as the minister of one of the colored churches of this place was diccoursing to his flock a woman advanced to where he stood, and in stera and peremptory tones den anded that he take a wark with her. The colored disciple appeared not to have heard her remark, and the second time the command 'to take a wark' was gived, and like the other, it was not heard. At this, drawing a long, glittering blade from beneath the folds of ner dress, she advanced to the parson, and placing her hand in his collar, indicated that she was thirsting for gore, and was in a mood to sprinkle the church with the blood of a 'chosen vessel.' The minister was completely surprised, and with a look of horror upon his "mahogany" seemed awaiting the sacrifice. Confusion took possession of the congregation, and in a moment a grand rush for windows and doors denoted a stampede. Men swore and women screamed: benches were turned over, and the uproor was tremendous. It transpired that the woman was crazy, and becoming amused at the rapid dispersion of the congregation, her hold rolaxed upon the parson's standing collar, and he quickly availed himself of the moment of grace by following the example of his affrightened flock. Another of this same woman's freaks was an alarm of fire which she gave at midnight on last Monday. Everybody was startled, and construation reigned supreme nutil it was discovered to be a false alarm. She was carried to the lock-up for this offense, and will be kept there until her condition improves, or until she is sentito the asylum. We have never heard of so much insanity among the negroes as at present. Four or five have recently gone crazy in this county alone.

After a ramble around the state university, Editor Gantt says:

Yesterday we took a short walk around the campus, that is now putting on its spring garb and will soon appear to the best advantage. We were glad to see that historical old oak in front of the chapel, that was sruck by lightning last spring, again putting forth buds. The baseball ground is still far from being completed, and it will take several hundred dollars, we think, to put it in first class order. It is a isplendid location, and will be a big bing for the boys. But it made us heartsick to look upon the dilapidated old buildings. The chapel is now undergoing repairs, and will be overhauled and modernized, but the other structures, with the exception of the Moore building, are of an ancient order of architecture, and several are fast going to decay. You see the plastering falling from the outer walls, the blinds are broken, the doors weather-stained, and a look of poverty and decay pervades the scene. There is nothing either inviting or attractive, and going to shew that this spot is the seat of learning for the great state of Georgia. The legislature should make some provision for repairs upon these buildings, and the trustees, in a body, should bring the matter to public attention. And while on the subject of the university, we will state that remarks are frequently made about the students, at all hours of the day being seen upon the streets or campus, which is interpreted, by some, into a neglect of their studies. Such is not the case. They recite every hour during the session, and are then dismissed until another lesson. They are expected to prepare themselves at night, and are at liberty to do as they please between hours. The faculty use every effort to preserve discipline, and in justice to the students we will say that we never knew such order and decorum among them as this term. Of course there is some disruption, but it does not reach the ears of the professors.

o the Albany News: I have just received a letter from my brother, Major G. A. Wright, Cairo, Thomas county, Georgia, which shows very plainly that it is better to grow some other articles besides common cotton. He says: "I planted six acres last year in sea island cotton. which tuned me out three bales or saces, which I have just sold for $330." Besides this he had eight hundred poulds of Georgia collard seed grown on four acres. These were sold at 40 cents per pound, This, you see, is much better than an all-cotton crop.

Hor. John G. McCurry, of Hart county, has wooden box which was buried for seven years during the revolution to hide valuables from the depredations of the British and tories. It was the property of his grandfather, Angus McCarry, who was a soldier during the war, and at that time lived in Rockingham county, N. C. The wooden part is in a good state of presorvation, but the lock and key are badly rust-eaten. He also has a desk which his father, John McCurry, made before such a thing as a whipsaw or a saw mill was known in Hart county, and it was fastened to gether with wooden pegs, there being no nails obtainable, and the hinges were made of wood. It is as strong and steady now as the day it was made.

Milton Democrat: Some ten days ago Mr. James Bettis, living in Vicory's creek district, Forsyth county, lost a bot of meat, and suspicioned Bob White, colored, of taking it, and with some one went and scarched the premises of Bob but found no meat. Two nights after the search four men went to White's house, bound and gapged him, and carried him about four houdred yards from home and best him unmercifully, using a hand saw and iron square to whip with; his fiesh is badly bruised and lacerated, and his sufferings are said to be intense. The regro recognized the party as being James Bettis, James Robbs, D. M. Patterson and a young Holbrooks. It is said that there are strong proofs against these parties. The case will likely undergo an investigation soon. Such atrocities should be punished with severe ponat-ties.

Married

From the Waynesboro, Ga, Citizen.

Justice P. D. Cox, was called on, to perform the marriage ceremony which indissolubly bound in the bonds of matrimony, Thomas Cummings, 97 years of age, and Marguerite—col., aged about 40 years. Our justice felt the importance and solemnity of the occasion, and in the spirit and impulse of inspiration, improvised the following beautiful and impressive ceremony, and which we commend to the other justices of the county for use in similar important occasions: similar important occasions:

"Through life's alternate joy and strife, I now pronounce you man and wife, Go up life's hill till you get to the level. And salute your bride, you rusty t devil." The pleasant occasion was over, and as the

FOR HIGHER RATES.

A Petition Sent to the Bailroad Commission that Needs wiese Study and Imparits Action - a Statement of Phanes that Most Surprise All Who See It - Important Matter.

The following circular letter has been sent to ATLANDA, Ga., March 10, 1835-Hou. James M. Smith, Chairman Railroad Commission of Gaor

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10, 1885—Hou. James M. Smith, Christian Railroad Commission of Georgia. Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: The undersgood appressives the entire ratiroad interest of Georgia, hereby petition the board of railroad commissioners for an increase in the susteon grain and four to the figures in force prior to the issuance of circular No. 20. February 10th. 1882.

The rates asked for we think you will find just and reasonable for the local business of the roads, if the nates charged by the roads in other states in the south and west are any criterion.

We print herewith a table of rates now being used on these articles, by all railroads in Georgia.

We print herewith a table of rates now being used on these articles, by all railroads in Georgia accompaned with the rates of one railroad each in eleven different states in the south and west.

Your attention is particularly called to the fact that even in the grain growing states of the west the rates will average double those allowed the roads in Georgia, notwishestanding the fact that word in Georgia.

The only reasons you have published in regard to then recessity for the low rates on these articles are those given in the sixth semi-annual report in which you state instances of discrimination against interior mills in shipping to the coast. You are well informed in regard to the necessity which compets railroads in the state of Georgia to meet rates made via Baltimore to the coast ciries. Bit we caunot see how the present local rates help interior mills as the rates help interior mills as the other trades and the state of Georgia and the through rates to local stations are made by adding the local rate established by your commission to the rates haded by your commission for the fact, that because the rail itnes from Cuchmant to the coast are compelied to accept very small proportions per 100 pounds to compete with the water lines, it should create no cause for the general reduction between all local stations.

with the water lines, it should create no cause the general reduction between all local station Ealtim one is nearer Cinciunati than Charleston is and the raises on grain and thour from Beltimo, to Charleston nominal, hence the law does ne probabilithe roads in Georgia from meeting the competition through Baltimore.

The fact that the rates on grain and flour are a duct between all local points brings no benefit to the local shipper in the state, but it is enjoye alike by the shipper from Cincinnati and other western points.

Take, for instance, the rate on grain from Atlantia to Stone Mountain, five cents per 100 poundathe shipper from Cincinnati gets a through rate equivalent to the rate to Atlanta, plus the local special to the rate to Atlanta, plus the local strong from the strong from Cincinnating the rate Atlanta to Stone Mountain, with the rate Marietta to Atlanta, hence it brings him no advantage to have the rate Atlanta to Stone Mountain as los as 5 cents per 100 pounds. What difference does a male to him if the rate is 10 cents aper 100 pounds instead of 5 cents, if the shipper in the week has the pay 10 cents also?

While it makes no difference to the shipper, and e it makes no difference to the shipper, an but little to the consumer, it has a very damage effect upon the railroads, whose tonnage is large effect upon the railroads, whose tonnage is largely made up by the articles in question.

We assure you that the rates on the articles in question are of serious consideration with the roads, and we carneatly ask your favorable indosement of the increased rates asked for.

We beg to remind the board that the law holds railcoads, to a strict accountability for the safe and efficient conduct of the transportation of both freight and passengers, hence we trust you will no longer insist upon the present low rates between iccal points on the railroads in Georgia, where the rates can be advanced without placing local stripers at a directionage with those beyond the boundaries of the stass.

We carnestly desire to press this matter upon your attention now.

tr upon your attention now the reason that during the last two years maler ductions have been made on cotton, fers, limber and other articles which comprise

A RAILROAD RICKET.

An Ontrage. Perpetrated by the "Queen and Crescent" Ronte. EDITORS CONSTITUTION.—The writer of this, with ome two hundred and fifty other persons leaving New Orleanes Thursday night, April 9th, at 10 o'clock, over the Queen and Orescent route, feels it both a duty and privilege to call the attention of the public to the shameful treatment we were it both a duty and privilege to call the attention of the public to the shameful treatment we were subjected to on this line.

The outcoming limited express, the "Cannon Ball," leaves New Orleanes at 9 p. m., but owing to a washout some forty-five miles this way from New Orleans, the limited express was taken off for this trip out to the break.

Rather than take the chance of losing any part of this train's business, however, we were informed, each and every passenger, by the company's sgent, that we would be transferred at the washout, and put aboard of the limited express this side the break, and that our connections in all directions would be made.

Instead of this, we were brought out to within four miles of the break, and leif in a swamp, in cars crowded to sufficially when the arm rests of the seats—for the remainder of the night.

We were transferred on Friday morning at about is so clock, by earrying our baggage, for a mile or so, to be ushed ditto a lot of cars about as dirty and untildy as they ever get to be and with a locemotive to pash the train, we were jogged Meridian, Miss.

At Meridian, we were informed that those of uswho were to go further over the Qdeen and Grescent route, should have to remain here until fire o'clock. A if the o'clock, we were informed that we certif not go until 3:30. We left this point at we certif not go until 3:30. We left this point at yelf, reaching Birningham, Ala, at 3:30 Saturday morning, Ith inst. We left Birningham at 10 o'clock, reaching Atlanta at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, forty-two hours out from New Orleans—five hunded miles.

At Meridian, an indignation meeting was held divise any done there adocting the reaching the part of the search of the part of the search of t o'clock, reaching aliants at 4 o clock saturaly alternoon, forty-two hours out from New Orleans—five hundred miles.

At Medidan, an indignation meeting was held during our picnic there, adopting the following presentable and resolution, nuanimously:

Whereas, We the victims of the treacherons agent at New Orleans, for the Queen and Crescent route—from New Orleans to Cincinnati, O., have suffered painful inconveniences and deprivations upon his representation to us that we should have been sent over this line to meet our connections and appointments, and whereas, we now know we ware entrapped for a purpose—to secure the passage of us over this line. Therefore,

Resolved, That we unconditionally condemn the road and its management for thus lending themselves to a wanton, wilful, and premeditated misrepresentation of what they knew they could not perform.

The above was requested to be embodied in this nctice.

Among the passengers on this memorable trip we had business men from all parts of the country, whose engagements were worth to themselves thousands of dollars; but who were treated with the supremest indifference, while thus in the power of the management of the Queen and Crescent route. Crescent rone.

On this trip we had many persons with just mency enough to take them home, and who on this account were subjected to the keenest chagrin and embarrasment.

In addition to what has been stated, the passen-

In addition to what has been stated, the passengers were needlessly neglected in having water without fee, and even without cups from which to drink. With no sort of care or concern as to comfort or the condition of the cars.

Those of us who were the victims of this outrage know and admit that the washout was an unavoidable missoriume; but we also know now that the company's agent knew we could not nor would not be transferred at this point to make our connections. Because no effort whatever was made to do this.

A Deceived Woman A Deceived Woman

Is the lady who uses counciles, face lotions, white lead, hismouth, powders, arsenie, etc., in the belief of enriching and beautifying the complexion. It is but temporary and ultimately destroys the skin beyond the power of nature to restore. Stop it! Stop it now and use only Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, which imparts the vigor and loveliness of youth. Your character cannot be essentially injured, except by your own acts.

A Husband's Greatest Blessing ls a strong, healthful, vigorous wife with a clear, handsome complexion. These can only be acquired by using Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic If your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind.

The removal of Professor Sanborn of N. H., after being pronounced incurable by a score of physicians, from Las Vegas, N. M., to his home, was effected by administering Harter's Iron Tonic, which has restored him to his former good health.

ATLANTA, APRIL 15, 1885.

INDICATIONS for the south Atlantic states at 1 a. m .: Warmer; generally fair weather; southerly winds; lower barometer.

THE improvement in General Grant's health was so marked yesterday that his friends now look for him to take a drive through the park before the week is over. He wrote a bulletin with his own hand, in ch he declared that he was better.

THE prince of Wales continued his trip brough Ireland yesterday without any unpleasant incident. Either the nationalists did not care to molest his progress, or were held back by the constabulary, as at Mal-

Another day has passed, without the happening of any incident upon which the hope might be built that peace would be assured between England and Russia. The czar seams to be under control of the war party, with no power to cut loose from it, and thus the empire is slowly drifting into war.

THE negotiations between France and China are of a most interminable character. After the peace preliminaries had all been arranged a hitch has been reached which reopens the whole question. It may take several strong French cabinets yet to finally get rid of the Chinese problem.

A SENSATIONAL murder has been brought to light in St. Louis, in which the perpetrator must have been the worst sort of a crank. Two Englishmen had registered at a hotel, one of them leaving later. Yesterday the stench proceeding from a trunk caused an investigation, which brought to light a ghastly story, the details of which will be found elsewhere. THIS LOOKS REASONABLE.

The attitude of The Constitution towards the railroad commission is known of all men. It is, and has been, its earnest and unswerving friend, and never more earnestly than

We are impressed, however, with the reaschableness of the petition addressed by the railroads to the commission, and printed in another column this morning. Any petition that is signed by every road in the state, is entitled to consideration, because it is the appeal of sixty millions of property. This especial appeal has further claim to consideration. It appears on the face of the paper presented that the Ceorgia commission has forced the roads in this state to haul the heavier freights at from one-fourth to onehalf of what is charged in other states. In some states more than four times as much is charged, and no state less than practically double, and in the average about three times as much. In states where there are commissions, the rate is two or three times as high as the rates allowed in our own state.

This petition, it seems to us, demands more than consideration. It demands explanation-or, lacking that, adjustment. The general business of the roads in Georgia-the density of population along their lines-is much less per mile than of the roads with which they are compared. The justice, therefore, in cutting their tariff on three leading articles of freight down to less than one-half of what the other roads are permitted to charge, does not appear. There may be in the wisdom of the commission, reasons for this apparent discrimination against Georgia reads. If so, they should be made promptly apparent. If not, we do not hesitate to say that the petition of the roads should be granted. The commission, if it wishes to retain the confidence of the public which it deservedly holds, must remember that it can no more afford to deal-injustice to the railroads, than it can afford to let the railroads oppress the people. If it should become aggressive for the sake of being aggressive, or lose the fine sense of justice that distinguishes its proceedings, it would defeat the ends for which it was created, and weaken its power to do anything. It appears to us, we repeat, that the railroads make a good case in their pending petition. If they cannot be fairly and fully answered, they should be met in the spirit of frank concession. THE IRISH DEMONSTRATIONS.

The popular favor which the prince and princess of Wales seemed to inspire in Dub. lin has received a rude check in Mallow. Ac cording to the telegrams that have chronicled the journey of the royal party, there are two factions among the Irish—the loyalists and the nationalists. The impression thus created is in many respects a fa'se one, and the knowledge in Ireland that an attempt was making to create such an impression, has undoubtedly led to the demonstration of Mallow-a demonstration that was unnecessary and uncalled for. There never has been. and there never could be, any doubt as to the attitude of the Irish people toward British regalty. Consequently the Irish leaders could have well afforded to give the demonstration at Mallow some other shape and di-

The probability is that the riot was precipitated by these whose timidity led them to suspect that an attack would be made on the prince and princess. Whereas, it is hardly possible than any such attack was contemplaied. Under all the circumstances, the affair is to be deplored, and its result will merely add to the bitterness with which the Irish regard English rule. The tour of the royal party, which was doubtless undertaken for the purpose of pacification, has had, and will have, the opposite effect owing, doubtless, to the excessive officiousness of those who consider themselves responsible for the safe con-

Left to themselves the prince and princess of Wales would have made a good impression on the Irish people. The prince is what the English call no end of a clever fellov, a the fact and judgment of a Georgian politician, and the probability is that he wou'd have caught the ear of the nationalists. The princess herself made a most strenuous atempt to contribute to the result for which the journey was undertaken. She wore a costume entirely of Irish manufacture; her dress was an Irish poplin of olive, with a bonnet trimmed to match, and with ornaments of sprigs of shamrock.

From one point of view, this tribute to Irish nationality is extremely pathetic, showing the anxiety of even royalty to cater in some degree to the patriotic prejudices of the Irish. It was an exhibition that would undoubtedly have touched the hearts of the Irish but for the presence with the royal party of elements that had much to do in stirring up strife in Ireland-the flunky officials, with their policemen and constables. The prince of Wales is enough of a diplomatist to bave traveled over Ireland without arousing the bitter feelings of the Irish, but he has had unfortunate surroundings, and the result is the demonstrations at Mallow

THE LAH-DE-DAHS AND THE TUM-TE-

TUMS. There is quite a social stew simmering in the great democratic city of Washington. The strife is between the opposing tribes of Lah-de dahs and Tum-te-tums, and it threaters to grow warm as the warm season advances. It is very important. It is a question that affects official "sassiety" in Washington. The absorbing question is, what shall be done with Miss Cleveland, the president's sister? Sissiety has about settled it that Miss Cleveland shall be the first lady in the land as long as she stays behind the white house doors, but the moment she sticks her head out the wife of the vice-president is to be the first lady; but will sassiety be all-powerful in this matter?

The truth is, sassiety, in order to enforce its decisions, will have to get out a series of badges and label its leaders, so that plain, honest people will know them; otherwise there will be some trouble in enforcing its

In Cincinnati, the other night, Mr. Henry George discussed Moses as a reformer and states-man. He showed that the leading governmental idea of Moses when he led the Hebrews out of their Egyptian bondage was a commonwealth i which every member should enjoy the right to sit vex or make him afraid; a commonwealth in which not wealth but humanity should be pro tected. Under this beneficent administration even the ox had its day of rest from toil and was not muzzled when treading out the grain. The brotherhood of man was as distinctly taught as the fatherhood of God The foundations of a social system were laid that made poverty and degradation unknown among the people. The greed of gain was checked by giving the d th blow to the monopoly of land. Moses taugh hat the land was the people's, "the democratic occupation of the country. A LONDON reporter who visited the headquarters of the lords of the admiralty the other day found one of the junior lords, Sir Thomas Brassey, sur-rounded by models of guns, torpedoes, cruisers, maps and sea charts. In response to a question. Brassey said: "We are ready for war. We are as rendy as if war had been declared. We can place a big fleet in the Baltic in four days. We can stud the sea with cruisers in twenty four hours. We are ready."

Of course there is no possibility of ever abolishing the ownership of land through the medium of land taxation. All that is visionary.

And then, the reporter adds, Brassey smacked his We are lips. Clearly, if war must come, Brassey is the man for the emergency. He started in life breaking stone by the roadside. Fortune favored him. He made money, loomed up at the head of a big manufacturing interest, and married a pretty wife with dazzling shoulders. The female Brassey literally shouldered the male Brassey into parliament and a baronetcy. With such a record Brassey becomes a name to conjure with. If Brassey ready there seems to be no earthly reason why England should hesitate to go in and literally wipe Russia up. THE fact that matters are in such shape i Washington that the distinguished Colonel Clayton McMichael has an opportunity to visit New York, seems to indicate that the democratic ad-ministration has been very successful thus far. But it will be many a long day before Colonel Mc-Michael can be permanently spared.

Hon. E. L. Lyon, president of the Commercial national bank of Marshalltown, Iowa, is well pleased with the proposed national commercial convention to be held in Atlanta. In a letter or the subject he says: "In Atlanta you have many things to invite the concentration of wealth, push, enterprise, pluck and additional nerve. In and bout this state, which we believe to be the best state in the union, there are many people wishing to turn their faces southward to get the benefit of climate, if business opportunties are given. The matter you urge is a step in the right direction and through such effort Atlanta can be greatly benefitted, its population and business increased the value of its property enhanced, and the tide of capital and business strength turned in your favor. It is said that a winter in Washington makes a person dissatisfied with the society of every city n the country. In our large cities we find the clubs in the possession of young insurance agents, stock brokers and downtown business men. They talk of stocks, petty scandals and horses. Oid men are rated stupid; literary and intellectual men are put down as nuisances. In general so-ciety it is worse. Men and women over thirty are eft in the corners. The young dancing dudes and the budding debutantes run everything. But in Washington the literary people, statesmen, travel ers and scientists are strong enough to give ton to society. You meet them everywhere. It is refreshing to find one city in the land where men of brains and position cannot be driven to the wall by long legged dudes and young girls just from the daucing schools.

National Commercial Convention.

From the Boston Advertiser. On the 19th of May there will meet in Atlanta, Ga., a convention of delegates from local chambers of commerce, boards of trade and and other associations organized for the discussion and regu-RESOCIATIONS ORGANIZED for the discussion and regulation of commercial matters. It is proposed to consider the reciprocity treaties now pending, the proposed national bankruptcy act, the silver question, the interstate commerce problem, and other topics of similar notional interest. The plant behold this convention originates with a group of active, enterprising Georgians, who realize that the coming session of congress is one that needs advice from the business interests of the country. To New England men especially this plan should commend itself. The south is at the threshold of a new existence, political, industrial and intellectual. If, as northern med similar legislation, this is the time to prove to legislators that business men know neither fractional nor sectional prejudice.

From the Portland, Me., Advertiser. From the Portland, Me., Advertiser.

The proposition to bold a "national commercial convention at Atlanta next month, is novel and striking. The purpose is that representative business men shall confer together and consider the best means to improve the business of the country. A thorough intelligent expression of opinion by practical business men upon the subject to be discussed beforehand will aid congress in its labors and influence its action. No specific place is given to revenue matters in the programme, though they are included in the general term of "other questions." The object of the convention is praireworthy, and it is to be hoped that the sanguine expectations of the executive committee may be fulfilled. The ends aimed at are of such supreme importance that the project deserves hearty support from the whole country.

As to Governor McDaniel's Eligibility

From the Bainbridge Democrat. It rather strikes us that when McDaniel serve out his present term the constitution of the state will prevent his serving another. The state constitution in reference to this point says: "The executive power shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office during the term of two years, and until his successor has been chosen and qualified. He shall not be eligible to re election, after the expiration of a second term, for the period of four years." Governor Mc Daniel has been elected twice by the people and is now serving his second term. It will be held that he was first elected to fill the unexpired term of Governor Stephens, who died in a few mornths after his inauguration. Such cannot be, for Stephens's term ended with him; if it had not surely the state would have paid his salary for his unexpired term to his heirs at law.

McDaniel no more served out Sthephens's unexpired term than he did Boynton's, who was governor during the interregoum between Stephens and McDaniel. The case of Governor Colquitt will be cited, but it is not perallel. He was only elected once under the present constitution, while McDaniel has been elected twice. will prevent his serving another. THE MONKEY DISCHARGED.

Arranged in Court for Biting a Lad's Hand and Honorably Let Go.

From the New York World. A monkey perched himself on the desk at the Tombs yesterday and looked mutely into the face of Justice Patterson. He was charged with high-way robbery and felonious assault by Mrs. Annie McCabe, of No. 122 Mott street. She had her son Tommy, three years of age, with her, and was weeping. She said that the monkey, who is called Jocko, had bitten her boy, and she was afraid that Tommy would get the hydrophobia. While she talked the monkey went through some of his tricks, and little Tommy played with him despite the remonstrance of his mother that the "baste" would bite him.

The owner of Jocko, an organ-grinder named Tomico Macco, of No. 88 Mulberry street, averted that while he was climbing down the tene that while he was climbing down the tenement-house front, where the McCabes live, little Tom-my endeavored to rob the monkey of a penny, and Jocko, who had been taught to hold on to anything he had hold of, had bitten the child. "Ye murtherin' vill'in," said Mrs. McCabe, sheking her fist into the Italian's face, "don't be adding perjury to ye other crimes. The little Tommy had a cint in his hand, and held it out in fun and pulled it back, when the divil jumped at him and graphed it.

Justice Patterson examined Tommy's hand, and announced that as there was no blood drawn there was no fear of any alarming result.

Mrs. McCabe demanded that the monkey be either shot or locked up, so that it could be reached in ease the child might be afflicted. Justice Patterson honorably discharged the monkey and his owner. and his owner.

"Dixie" in the Executive Mansion.

From the Philadelphia Times. What singular errors some of the brilliant wri ers from Washington now and then fall into. A orrespondent of the Louisville Courier-Journa in writing of Mr. Cleveland's reception says that the Marine band played a medley of popular airs, including "Dixle," "Suwanee River" and "Massa's in de Cold Cold Ground " and says that it is the first time these airs have ever been played in the white house, an assumption that the new democratic administration is crowding out the old popular loyal airs and introducing in their stead purely southern music. This is entirely a fiction. The popular southern airs above quoted have been played in the executive mansion and grounds ever since they were written. It is easy for me to recall an instance only a night of two before Mr. Lincoln was assassinated. The president had returned from Richmond and a crowd called with a boud to tender congratulations and a serenade. The man who was so soon to be the victim of the assassin's bullet appeared in response to calls and thanked his audience for the compliment Several members of his cabinet surrounded him, and it was a very interesting and dramatic occasion.

"Just as he was closing his brief remarks Mr. Lincoln said: "I see you have a band with you. I should like to hear it play 'Dixie.' I have consulted the attorney general, who is here by my side, and he is of the opinion that Dixie belongs to us. Now play it." The band struck up the old tune and played it as I have never before or since heard it rendered. As the strains of the music rang out upon the air cheer after cheer went up from the throats of the hundreds of happy men who had called to congratulate Mr. Lincoln upon the return of peace. and introducing in their stead purely southern

Advice to Chewers.

From the New York World. The fact that General Grant's deadly cancer attributed to the immoderate use of eigars has turned the attention of scientists and thoughtful journalists to the subject of tobacco chewing. The mastication of tobacco for stimulative purposes is not so injurious, perhaps, as smoking. With a little attention to simple rules a man of phlegmatic temperament may chew tobacco for eighty or ninety years without serious results.

For chewing purposes the mildest form of tobacco should be used. The brand known as pigtail should be eschewed by persons of sedentary habits. It contains a great deal of copperas and molasses, and this combination only agrees with seafaring persons or those who labor severely in the open air.

Of the tobaccos "Gravely" is probably the best, though the Virginia natural leaf is quite popular with the connoisseurs. Fine-cut should be though the Virginia natural leaf is quite popular with the connoisseurs. Fine-cut should be avoided. It contains a great deal of nicotine and is so prepared as to overstimulate the sallvary glands. Chewers should avoid falling to sleep with a cud in the mouth. In expectorating care should be taken not to eject hydraulically through the teeth. This custom has a tendency to jar the enamel of the teeth and irritate the gums.

After chewing steadily for two or three hours the mouth should be cleansed. This prevents discoloration of the teeth. No intelligent tobacco-chewer will take a quid immediately after partasing of spring enions.

These rules are few and simple, but if followed they cannot fail to be of lasting benefit to every chewer.

A Pathetic Instance of Loyalty.

From the Pittsburg Chronicle.
There is a great rage for historic incidents which occurred a hundred years or so ago in cultivated society just at present. Among the most interesting and remarkable, and not without a tear or two of quiet pathos, is one handed down for the past three generations by the ducal house two of quiet pathos, is one handed down for the past three generations by the ducal house of Leicester. It had a servitor in the family who seemed to take a great pride in a pair of breeches sadly needing repairs back aft. On all state occasions he would appear in these disreputable garments, much to the scandal of the court. One day King George the IV. visited the Leicester house, and sure enough Mopson, the butler, was on hand in his notorious breeks, conspicuous with the roof blown of their gable end. The king himself observed him and exclaimed: "Why don't the man put patches on his leathern?" "I would die first, your majesty" cried humble Mopson; "your majesty once did me the honor to kick me there, and to my dying day will I not cover your majesty's great condescension." "Well, well," said King George, touched by this evidence of loyalty, "out of courtesy to the ladies, my good man, put patches on and come to me and I will kick you sgain." George the IV. was a kind hearted man, and could thus bend the dignity of the royal sovereign to the softer impulses of his nature.

A Washington Belle and a Fancy Ball Dress

A Washington Belle and a Fancy Ball Dress Washington letter to Boston Transcript. Bits of the gossip concerning Miss Katherin Bayard's famous fancy dress continue to echo through the columns of the press. The latest is in a letter from Washington: "Miss -, daughter of -, called berself Queen Hortense, but was face tiously named Democratic Simplicity by some was who was present. Her dress—if dress it might be celled—was made of a sort of a transparent, fiesh-colored cashmere, without any linings. The cocsage was simply a belt around the waist about four was simply a belt around the waist about four inches broad, trimned with white pear fringe? It was held in place by inch-wide ribbons across the shoulders. Pink silk mittens completed the upper rart of the toilet. The skirt, very scant and ofinging, was a demi-train of the pink cashmere, looped up at one side about half way between the right knee and hip, worn over pink silk tights. The young lady is a half blonde with Titlanesque hair, leir complexion, and a round, plump figure. In this costume there was absolutely nothing left to the imagination."

English Conjugal Life.

From the London Truth. Perhaps it could scarcely be conceived possible that any man in this country could be so imoruted as to seize his wife by the hair of the head, bruted as to seize his wife by the hair of the head, knock her down repeatedly, and each time lift her up by the hair, punch her about the face, kick her in the chest and ribs till she became insensible, and then, when she recovered conscionsness, bite her nose off. Yet this is precisely what Thomas Chambers, of Shadwell, gdid last week, and all because his wife fetched him out of a public house. And, after being thus ill-used, the woman wished to withdraw the charge and let the rufflan go scot free. Happily, Mr. Lushington would not allow this. He sencenced the fellow to six months' hard labor, granted a separation, and ordered that the wife should receive twelve shillings a week. Who from?

THE BASEBALL LEAGUE GAMES. The Opening of the Schedule To-Day-Four Games to Be Played.

To-day will open the schedule games of the outhern baseball league. Atlanta goes visiting to Augusta, Nashville to Columbus, Chattanooga to Macon, and Memphis o Birmingham. A vote of seven enthusiastic baseball men wa taken at THE Constitution office yesterday, and the following was the result of the vote:

1. Atlanta will beat Augusta. 2. Birmingham will beat Memphis. 3. Columbus will beat Nashville.

4. Chattanooga will beat Macon. It will be seen that this estimate gives the game to three visiting clubs, and make only one home eam hold its colors—the redoubtable Columbus. The estimate must be discounted by the fact that a team playing on its own grounds, and with its own umpire, has from ten to twenty five per cent advantage. But to-morrow CONSTITUTION will morning's story. It will list the four winners in all the distinguishment of bold type, and tell how the victories were won and how Greek went down before

The following is an interesting summary of the record Atlanta has made on her own grounds dur-ing the past month in practice games with visit ing clubs:

Total number games played up to April 15th. 16; games won, 8; games lost, 7; games tied and drawn, 1; ten-inning game, 1; total number run made by Atlanta, 138; total number runs made by made by Alianta, 188; total number runs made by opponents, 116; number times Atlanta was shut out, 0; number times opponents were shut out, 1. Of these the tie and the ten inning game were played with Louisville. Two of the victories were wen from Louisville, one from Indianapolis, three from the Clippers, of Cincinnati, one from Moutgomery and one from Cleveland. The defeats were by Louisville, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Chicago.

The Chattancogas Win CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 14 - Special f-The Chattanoogas defeated the Cleveland team again this evening by a score of eight to four, Deagle pitched for the visitors and was caught by Somers. Ramsey and Munroe filled the same position for the home team. Batten, the captain of the Clevelands, is one of the worst kickers ever seen in this city, and is a disgrace to the profession In the eighth inning the score stood eight to four in favor of the home nine. The visitors were a the bat. Deagle knocked a long fly to centre field which he supposed Siegle would catch, and throwing down his bat, started to the players' bench. The ball was muffed, and Walker, who was at first to relieve Deagle in running, advanced was at hist to refleve Deagle in running, advanced to second. The ball was thrown to first, Deagle was declared out, not having run from the home plate to the first. Batten kicked and withdrew his players. The latter say the umpire's decision is just. They went to Cleveland to-night. The following is the game by invises:

The Early Vanderbilts,

From the Cincinnati Commercial-Gaze Thirty years ago, when Cornelius Vanderbilt was nterested in the accumulation of a fortune, having barely emerged from his flat boating expeing barely emerged from his flat boating experience, tolling with his estimable and ever helpful wife, who, to the day of her death, never lorgot her hardships as barmaid in the wilds of New Jersey, where was William? Down on Staten is land, damned by his father and laughed at by his neighbors. At that period did Commodore Vanderbilt's money put him into society, and what body of society did he get into? If position in society is to be measured by the number of yards of gilt frame in a man's drawingrom on picture gallery, there are hundreds of men here worth several hundred thousand dollars who would be staggered by grammar and feel who would be staggered by grammar and feel most uncomfortable in a dress suit.

Worth an Apology.

St. John, who was very near-sighted, once went to a civic banquet, and forgot his eye glasses, He to a civic banquet, and forgot his eye glasses. He sat next to the Chevalier Piqueassiette. The chevalier's hand was gracefully but negligently posed upon the cloth. A smile of anticipatory satisfaction at the prospect of unlimited turtle-toup, illumined his classic features. Suddenly a yell of anguish startled the guests. What had happened? Only this—the myopic St. John had simply but effectually harpooned the lily white hand of the chevaller with his fork, as he remarked, in a firm but polite tone, "My bread, I think." TORSEY TAKES POSSESSION OF THE EAST TENNESSE

Jurge Hammond Issues an Order that Puts Judge Dorsey in Charge of the East Tennessee—He Goes Down and Takes Hold—Deputy Marshals and Sheriffs Pogether.

Yesterday afternoon and evening there were ex citing times about the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad offices. Several lawyers, Sheriff Perkerson, United States Marshal Bryant and two deputies with several railroad officials occupied the superintendent's office, and to-day Hon. Rufus T. Dorsey is again in possession of the road from the Tennessee line to the Atlantic coast.

This announcement will doubtless create a big sensation not only in railroad and commercial circles, but everywhere that this interesting legal fight has been read of.

The people generally are familiar with the history of the case. Major Henry Fink was ap-pointed receiver by the United States court in Tennessee, and Judge Dorsey was appointed re-ceiver of the road in Georgia by the state court. The case in Georgia was removed to the federal Judge Dorsey and confirmed Major Fink as re-ceiver for the whole line. The question of removal was carried by Judge Loresy's friends to the supreme court of Georgia, and that tribunal decided that the case could not be removed and that the road was a Georgia road, operating under the Cincinnati and Georgia charter. and he looked out of the window with longing gauces. His mind was far away in the mountains where the raider chases the moonshiner and sour mashes perfume the dells and hidden nooks. The man was Deputy Marshal Campbell, who for ten Gays has been guarding the premises, watching therein by day and sleeping therein by right. The issue for which he waited had come. The federal marshal and the Georgia sheriff stood face to face.

Scattered around the room and lying in a stack were notices "for the information of whomsoever to may concern," with such choice bits of warning as the following:

"All the property, of every kind and description, belonging to the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia realroad company, is now in possession and custody of the United States court, through its agent, Henry Fink, receiver. It is a contempt of court to interfere with the receiver's possession, enjoyment or use of any of this property, by force or by suit.

WERE TO STAY.

In spite of these threatening words Judge Dorsey and his friends were there to stay. Mr. Merecould come. Mr. Fry was at the office of Hopkins & Glenn consulting those distinguished barristers as to the best course to be pursued. The folks at Mr. Fry's office waited patiently, cracked jokes and amused themselves as best they could. The telephone between the superintendents office and that of Hopkins & Glenn was freely used. At last Judge Hopkins asked the names of those who were there. They were given him.

"They are going to get out warrants for us all," said a member of the party.

About half past five Mr. Fry was seen walking briskly towerd the office. He was alone. He was chus, up full of business and moved very rapidity. "How do you do?" said Mr. Hoke Smith as Mr. Fry went up the Isteps three steps at a jump. "I'm glad to see you. Been waitin' for you."

"That so,"" responded Mr. Fry.

All shook hands and entered a private room. where a closeted conference was held.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Fry, as soon as the door was closed, "you must give me more time. Allow me until to morrow. Give me time to consider this matter."

All were serjous then. could come. Mr. Fry was at the office of Hopkins were serious then. "We must have possession immediately; we cannot wait. We have possession now of this building and propose to have possession of the whole line."

There was a brief and very carnest argument.
United States Marshal John E. Bryant was in the room and so was Chief Beputy Mitchell. Mr.
Campbell was on hand, quiet as ever.
GIVE UP OR GO TO JAIL. "Mr. Fry," said the spokesman for Judge Dor-sey, "we do not intend to be abrupt to you, but Judge Dorsey is here to take charge of the road by order of the superior court. If you do not yield and send out his orders he will dismiss you and but some one here who will. Or else he will at once attach you for contempt and have you sent to yield that man will follow you to juil. If you do not give up this road you will be in jail before 12 o'cleck to-morrow!"

"Suppose I refer you to the United States marshals," said Mr. Fry.
"Tut, tut," said Mr. Hoke Smith, "they have not a scratch of a pen as authority to be here. They haven't as much business in here as a policeman would have."

Mr. Fry was in a peculiar condition. He had not been given time to consult Major Fink, and not been given time to consuit Major Fink, and did not know exactly what to do. Colone Bryant could do nothing, and at last Mr. Fry decided to let Judge borsey manage the road and to aid and not obstruct the work.

Judge Porsey then wrote out the following announcement:

"To the railroad companies connected with the Georgia division of the East Tennessee. Virginia and Georgia railroad: You are hereby notified that I am again in possession of the Georgia division of the Fast Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and management of the Fast Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and the Fast Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia division of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and Management to the agents of the road:

Mr. Fry was approached by a Constitution man: "I have nothing to say," was his reply to a question. "I will do the best I can for the road in any situation. I recognize the fact that Judge Dorsey is in possession at least for the present."

About nine o'clock Judge Dorsey and his friends got ready to leave. They had put the place under guard and told Deputy Marshal Campbell that he must depart. Colonel Bryant and Mr. Mitchell had siready gone. Mr. Campbell protested but was told there was no alternative but to go. "Igo, but I go under protest." he said, and departed.

"Igo, but I go under protest."

That left Judge Dorsey in full and undisputed possession. He has made no change in the officials and employes yet.

STARTLING AMENDMENTS. The amendments filed yesterday contain some interesting points. It is charged that the Central trust company is in collusion with the East Tennessee directors to swindle the bondholders. This company negotiated all the bonds for the East Tennessee. First there were issued $22,000,000. Next there were bonds issued to the extent of $16,-500,000. These bonds were secured by mortgages on the whole line including the little twelve-mile ond known as the Ooltawah and Red Clay road. Notwithstanding these two mortgages the complainants claim that the East Tennessee people issued two million dollars more, of bonds for which they mortgaged the little road worth only $250,000. It is claimed that the public was deceived about these bonds as they were represented as "Cincinnati and Georgia" bonds when they were only covered by tweive miles of road. It is also claimed that Major Fink is simply the tool of the directors, and that the real management of the road is the same as ever. It is said that further amendments will be made, and that facts of a sensational nature in the organization of the cread will be made. It will be claimed that the directors and incorporators are is able individually for the debts, certain it is that the litigation is in a very interesting state.

The lawyers who have created this big sensation are as follows: Patrick Calhoun, King & spalding, Howard Van Epps, Hoke Smith, Edgar Angier and Julius L. Brown. They have scored a big legal victory. Major Fink is represented by Bacon & Rutherford, Wm. M. Baxter, Hopkins & Glell, Judge Lochrane and Judge Tompkins. on the whole line including the little twelve-mile

GEORGIA'S NEW BONDS.

Bids to be Opened To-Day at Noon by the Governor and Treasurer. At noon to day Governor McDaniel and State Treasurer Hardeman will open all the bids which shall have been received for the issue of the rew bonds of thestate. It is impossible to predict what will be the nature of the bids or the result of the consideration which shall be given to them by the governor and treasurer.

A large number of bids are in and more are expected to day. The envelopes and postmarks show that several of the bids have come from parties in Georgia. The bids are made on the recent advertisement of the governor and treasurer for bids for part or all of an issue of $3,455,135 of bonds of the state at a rate of interest not exceeding five per cent, to pay off that portion of the public debt falling due during the years 1885 and 1886. Mr. Hardeman has recently spent a week in New York and came home highly gratified at the financial standing of Georgia there. Various offers have been made to the governor and treasurer to handle the

to the governor and treasurer to handle the new bonds for the state, but it is very prob-able that they can be handled without trouble by those officials themselves. A W. AND A. TRAIN DELAYED.

The Engine Jumps the Track at Smyrna, and the Train Behind Time. The Western and Atlantic passenger train due at the Union passenger depot at 8:07 last night at the Union passenger depot at $:07 last night cid not arrive until early this morning. The delay was occasioned by an accident at Smyrna. Fassenger train No. 2, which left Atlanta yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, met the train due in Atlanta at $:07 at Smyrna. The south bound train is known as No. 19. After the two trains had passed No. 19 started out for the main track, but the switch was open and the engine went of. The train was then moving at a good rate, and the engine, tender and two or three cars left the track. The engineer detected the open switch just before reaching it and attempted to stop his engine, but without success. His effort 'to stop the engine prevented a serious excident, as the momentum the train had acquired would have carried it over a bank. As it was no one was hurt. The exact extent of the damage to the road and cars can not be ascertained as the employes of the road are quite reticent when questioned. It is not known to whom the blame will be attached. The regular 11:40 train left on time last night.

The Two Johns Last Night. A more laughable play never appeared in At lanta than that of the Two Johns. From the rise of the curiasn to the close of the performance the audience were convulsed with laughter. A splendid house witnessed the first perforance last night, and a more thoroughly satisfied audience probably never left our opera bouse. The play is a novel one, and is replete with sparkling hits and ridiculous features. 'It is intensely amusing, and is without the conseness which sometimes characterizes similar performances. Messrs. J. Stewart and John Hart as the "Two Johns" kept their hearers in a bubble of laughter, which at frequent Intervals, through incidents brought about by mistaken identity, developed into the most upmistaken identity, developed into the most up-roarous applause. The others of the cast appear to good advantage, and the singing of Misses Emily Northrop and Georgia Conaline and Messrs. L. J. Lebensburg and F. S. Boutiller was especially commendable. The company will appear again to-day at matinee and again to-night and should be greeted with full houses. A more enjoyable performance was never given in the city.

Sts. Peter and Paul's Fair. The attendance at the fair last night was not as large as on preceding nights. All enjoyed themelves, and the chances on the several beautiful articles are going rapidly. The hat rack at Mrs. Deihl's table will be a valuable prize to the lucky winner. The full rigged ship at Mrs. Gillespie's table attracts the eash from young and old, many of the visitors having never seen even in miniature a ship sailing. The ballots for the diamont ring at the Sodality table will close on Saturday night. The Catholic Knights visit the fair on Friday. To-night the Hibernian society will be out.

Quite an excitement was created on Decatur street, near Hillyard, last night by Mrs. Phillips three years of age and disappeared from her home about three o'clock. The search for the lost one continued until after dark, when Policeman Abbott picked up the little one on Wheat street. Fully one hundred persons were engaged in the hunt. hunting for her lost daughter. The child is about

Last night Wm. Johnson, a negro man raised a row on Peachtree street and was pulled in by Patrollman Abbott. After reaching the city prison and preferring the charge of disorderly con-duct against Johnson, Patrolman Abbott became convinced that Johnson was a convict. Johnson will be detained as a suspect.

A Small Fire. An incipient fire in a dwelling on the corner of Elliott and Johnson streets was extinguished by fire company No. 3 last night. No alarm was sounded. The fire was due to a defective flue.

The assessed valuation of real estate this year will probably be over a half million dollars. Personal property is not taxed.

The county authorities will soon begin manadamizing the balance of the road from the stores out towards East Point. This will be a valuable improvement.

The Atlanta and West End street car line is advertised for sale the first Tuesday in May. It is hoped this valuable property will fall into the hands of purchasers who will extend the road and make it doubly remunerative.

The ladies' society of Park street church will have the spelling-bee to-morrow (Thursday) night at 7:30 o'clock, at the hall over the brick store. Admission ten cents. Substantial refreshments served for twenty five cents, after the spelling. Everybody invited. Go and learn to spell. Gordon street, where it crosses the Central rail-road track, is to be excavated and run under the track. This much needed improvement will be made soon as the railroad company drives down the necessary piling.

STRANGE RESTORATION

A Wenlthy Citizen After Seventeen Years Restores Stolen Money. From the Arkansas Gazette.

An odd restitution was made at Spencerville near Newport, last week, that contains all the elements of romance. For a good many years Mr. W. D. Spencer has been a citizen of Spencerville, coming there originally from eastern Tennessee. Spencerville is a small town five miles from Newport, the latter city being located on the line of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad. For many years Mr. Spencer has pursued the business of farming and running store in Spencerville, and has, by business energy and thrift, secumulated a very comfortable fortune. He has become so identified with Spencerville and its interests that his neighbory have less than the second bors have long since ceased to remember that he was not always a neighbor, and that he came to that county a stranger with an unknown history. Mr. Spencer never married, but pursued his bach-elor way with quietness, although several maiden ladies cherished hopes from time to time that ladies cherished hopes from time to time that were never destined to ripen into the flowers of connubial bliss, and faded one by one as the envied object gathered more wordly goods from year to year.

It can be imagined, therefore, how like a thunder-boit from a clear sky the startling intelligence fell upon the community that two strangers, officers from Tennessee, had arrived and had charged their respected townsmen with a crime committed in Tennessee seventeen years before. But their astonishment became consternation when Mr. Spencer said to the officers: "Gentlemen, I am the man you are after. The crime you charge me with, I committed."

The officers informed him that they had come to take him back to Tennessee and let him suffer putsishment for that which he had confessed he had committed.

Mr. Spencer then said—(an ever-witness related to take him back to Tennessee and let him suffer purishment for that which he had confessed he had committed.

Mr. Spencer then said—(an eye-witness related the story to a Gazetta reporter yesterday evening:)

"Seventeen years ago, when I was a mere boy, two other young men and myself in a drunken spree broke into a store in our town in Tennessee and robbed it of $800 in money. We divided the money and han away. I was wild and reckless, but I was not a thief, and begre God I do not think I could have been pursuaded into this crime if I had been sober. But we took the money and the shadow of the crime had haunted my life ever since. I have tried to live down my conscience in this quiet and peaceful place, but I have not been able to do so. I am glad you havetome, and am ready to go with you. I want to make full restitution for what I old seventeen years ago. I have made money, and want to pay back all of that blood mouey. I want to pay back all of that blood mouey. I want to the stony got part of it, and interest on it for seventeey years. It is all I can do. Nothing will clear me heart of the stain, but I can at least restore the money."

Mr. Spencer then figured out the interest on the total amount of the stolen money, and paid over to the efficers over $2,000, and to that extent wiped out the past.

"Now, gentlemen." he said, "I don't want you to keep this secret. I want everybody to know that I have been a thief. It is my expiation. I want them to know that I have done all in my power before God to efface my drime. If I suffer in the eyes of my neighbors, it is just. I have deserved it. in the eyes of my neighbors, it is just. I nave deserved it.

The informant of the reporter said that this quiet but pathetic acceptance of his fate visibly sifected the officers of the law, who stood there with a requisition from Governor Hughes to take a prisoner back to his old home. Their eyes became moist at the spectacle of the agony of the lenely bachelor whom wealth could not make happy, and felt that his life was a failure. They conferred among themselves, and decided that they would not proceed further. The money had been recovered with long years of interest. Mr. Speners had been punished. His conscience had been accovered make and after a few hours they left beautiful.

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Speculation's in Wall street continues in a waiting mood and the stock market remains dull and featureless. Lackawanna Northwestern, St. Paul, Lake Shore and Pacific Mail consumed 69 per cent of the day's business. The first prices were generally a shade above the close yesterday. This was immediately followed by a decline and extreme duliness, which continucd fill two p.m. In the last hour some activity was developed in the Pacific Mail, Grangers, Vanderbilts and Lackawauns, and the market closed somewhat feverish at irregular prices. The Pacific Mail closed I per cent higher on the statement that a dividend of the usual amount would be declared. Grangers firm all day and closed fractionly bigher. Sales 161,000 shares.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce. By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, April 14-The entire day on 'change was characterized by feverish anxiety with a much stronger feeling prevailing on the regular boards and the highest prices known for 12 months prevailing, but a somewhat weaker feeling in the after-noon prevailed, occasioned by the peaceful tenor of London advices. The great feature of the session was the unusually large number of outside pur chases, predicating a strong renewal of speculative buying and on a scale which it is claimed has been hitherto unknown for years. A decrease in the visible supply of wheat, continued cold and uneasonable weather in the wheat growing districts and a reported extensive export inquiry were given as causes for the high prices prevailing dur-ing the day, with a still general belief in a foreign war as the remaining strong incentive. The market opened 1461%c higher, but fell back 1%, later rallied 21/4c and closed on the regular board 21/4c higher than yesterday. On the afternoon board the market fell back 11/4 @13/8c. The corn market opened %@%c higher, declined %c, rallied 1½@2c and closed 76@1½c higher than yesterday. Cables reported strong foreign markets which, with light receipts, tended to give the mar-

Oats advanced 1@11/c for the same causes and clesed nearly at outside figures.

Trading in provisions was fairly active, and the market ruled stronger with prices somewhat

LIVERPOOL, April 14—The leading weekly grain circular to-day says: The weather has been generally fair but cold, having the effect of checking vegetation. Trade has been buoyant under the influence of affairs in the east and excitement in the American markets. Prices of wheat in the city are 2s@3s dearer and in the country markets they are 2@4s higher. Offerings have been very light. To-day's market was well attended, and there was a good demand for wheat at higher prices. Flour was also in good request at better

The arm of the "Y" which went out towards the rotary engine was covered or closed up. As a natural consequence when the water going up the hill, through the sixteen inch main reached this "Y" it flowed down the arm until the vacuum was filled. The pressure on the main at any was filled. The pressure on the main at any point is 140 pounds to the square inch. The pressure on the "dead end" of the "Y" was the same. Yesterday the continued pressure caused this dead end to give way and the breakage was so great that the WATER COULD NOT HE FORCED up the hill as it left the main to follow this opening through which it was wasted.

As soon, however, as they discovered the trouble, the two million gallon pump was stopped and the four million gallon pump went on. Only a few minutes, however, were necessary to show the workmen that this was no remedy, because as soon as the water from the twenty inch main reached the sixteen-inch main—through which it comes to the city—it main—through which it comes to the city—it flowed by its own gravity back down the hill to the broken end. The disaster was instantly telegraphed from the works to the office in the city, but even then the result was being felt throughout Atlanta. Just as the train was taking a speed the conductor noticed a man standing near the track as though he was waiting for the cab to reach him when he would climb on. Conductor Johnson thought that it was one of his train hands, and, as he neared him, held his lantern so as to see the face. As the conductor reached the man the lantern showed that the man was a negro, and Conductor Johnson started to step back on the platform Just at that instant something bright flashed in the negro's hand and in au instant the sharp report of a pistol rang out. Conductor Johnson could easily see that the pistol was pointed towards him and a warm stinging sensation on the left temple convinced him that the bullet came near hitting him. The train by this time was under ting him. The train by this time was under good headway. The night was dark and Conducter Johnson knew that it would be useless to go back and hunt for the would be-assassin. The bullet barely marked the skin. Conducter Johnson has no idea who the negro is.

NOT GUILTY.

Said the Jury in the Case of John Pratt, Charged With Murder.

Yesterday in the superior court the case of John Pratt, charged with the murder of Dave Mitchell, was called. Both sides were ready, and the trial proceeded and was concluded in a very short time. There were very few witnesses, and their testimony did not differ in any material did not differ in any material point. John Pratt, the prisoner, as boy seventeen years old, sat by his aged mother and betrayed very little indication that he realized the gravity of his situation. There was a large crowd of spectators, and all the seats within the bar were filled. A jury was obtained without much difficulty. The prisoner was represented by Major S. B. Spencer and the state by Howell C. Glenn, acting solicitor general.

satold by the witnesses, was briefas the tragedy was sudden. On the night of December 17th last, a crowd of men and boys were gathered in a bar room on Marietta street. Among them were Dave Mitchell, a negro, and John Pratt, a white boy. It appears that Mitchell was drunk, and had been very noisy. He grew more boisterous, and began to shove the men around him in an insulting manner. Finally he caught hold of Pratt and gave him a severe shaking, at the same time applying the most approprious Pratt and gave him a severe shaking, at the same time applying the most approbrious epithets to him. Pratt was too weak to grapple with the burly negro and reaching in his pocket he drew a pen knife, with which he begen to strike at his assailant about the neck and head. One stroke sent the small blade squarely and the blood spouted out on Pratt's hand and over the neck of his victim. Mitchell turned the boy'slese, and reeled to the floor, exclaiming, "My God! He's killed me!" In a few moments he was dead. Several witnesses testified that Mitchell acted in such a way as to induce Pratt to believe that his life was in induce Pratt to believe that his life was in danger. The case was argued by Major Spencer and Mr. Glenn. The jury remained out a few minutes and returned with a verdict of "not guilty." There was a quite a scene in the court room. The case had been closely watched by the crowd and a very general sympathy was felt for the boy, who looked pale and weak. When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Pratt convulsively

Yesterday afternoon Mr. D. M. Bain and Captain J. F. Burke were making their way to the union passenger depot armed with traveling bags and bearing a decidedly tourist-like aspect. When asked where they were going, they replied in chorus, "to Sheffield."

"How is the town getting along?"

"Splendidly," answered Mr. Bain. "It is doing better than anybody dared to hope when it was projected. It is the biggest success I know of. You never saw a place build up so fast in your life, and it is not like a new town. The buildings are worthy of Atlants. "How many people are there?"

"About six hundred, I suppose, now, but they are coming every day. The increase is more than keeping up its ratio. As fast as houses can be finished they are taken."

"Are the inhabitants confident of the success of Shefiled?"

"Well, I should say so; and so is everybody else who sees the town and its advantages."

IMPROVING THE HIGHWAYS.

What the County Commissioners Are Doing The public reads of Fulton county have been very much improved during the past three or four years. The work now progressing on them and that which has been projected will place them in a still better con-dition. Last year the county commissioners expended the limited means at their disposal on the various roads in the county, to their marked improvement. The work on Peachtree road has stood the winter work on Peachtree road has stood the winter finely. The road is in a fine condition. At present the county road force is concentrated on the work upon the road from West End to the new Westview cemetery. The commissioners had some difficulty in settling with the street car company what part of the work it should do, but the matter has been arranged. The company is at work laying rubble pavement slong its line from the old Pease corner, in West End, to the end of the track, a quarter of a mile beyond. On each side of the track the county force is macadamizing a good eighteen foot drive. From the end of the street car track line to the cemetery is about a mile. This distance will be covered with a fine fifty foot road, which is now being graded and macadamized. Forty hands are engaged on fifty foot road, which is now being graded and macademized. Forty hands are engaged on the work and are being used to good advantage. As soon as this work is completed an excellent anburban drive will be afforded. It leads directly to the Westview cemetery which is being made very beautiful. The work on the road is being done in a very substantial manner. There are five or six other roads claiming the extention of the commissioners when ner. All new machinery moves with more or less friction. With a little patience, good attendance and perseverance, things will get along smoother hereafter, and become more interesting. The offerings were fair, principally corn, and notwithstanding there was the expected and usual amount of confusion, several cars of No. 2 white mixed sacked corn were sold at 61 to 62½ cents per bushel. As there are and will be good offerings, good buyers will be in demand. It is presumed purchases can be made on call as cheap and more satisfactory than elsewhere. ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE GEORGIA PHARMACISTS

Large Attendance and Interesting Proceeding Welcomes to Atlanta—Addresses of Officers-Discussions on Various Queries—Reception at the Residence of Mr. Rankin.

The tenth annual meeting of the Georgia Pharmaceutical association convened in Concordia hall yesterday morning at 10:40 o'clock. it was called to order by Mr. S. C. Durban, of Augusta. Owing to the absence of I. Zacharias, the secretary, the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with, and Mr. D. McMaster was requested to act as secretary pro. tem.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. H. G. Hutchison in a happy and graceful manner, and was as follows:

manner, and was as follows:

Mr. President and Members of the Georgia Pharmacentical Association: In behalf of the druggists of Atlanta I welcome you to our city, our homes and our firesides. We have thrown open wide our gates and are glad to have you enter them. We have looked anxiously and long for your coming, blieving that you can and will do us good. Coming as you do from every portion of our state, from her mountains and her valleys, from her mentains and her valleys, from her villages and her cities, representing the drug interests in all of its departments and her valleys, from her reflect the neglect of the remedy that destroys life." It this be true, how important that it is not the disease but the neglect of the remedy that destroys life." It this be true, how important that it be combined in such proportion and form as will render it most efficient and at the same time least objectionable and least injurious.

This is the province of pharmacy; this is its field, and to-day it is ripe for the harrost. Let us enter in and gather the rich sheaves that are ready for our sickle, and place them upon the altar of our profession as a pledge of our devotion to its principles, and as a

Mr. President and Gentiemen: In behalf of the members of the Georgia Pharmadeutical association living outside of Atlanta, who come from her sister cities and the provinces. I have the honor to accept your kind hospitality and generous welcome. One year ago, when we met in Macon, and the invitation was given to next meet here, it was accepted with the most pleasant anticipations of a profitable and enjoyable occasion. Atlanta, though a cosmopolitan city, contains enough of the native element to make her the great heart of Georgia, whose pulsation are felt in her remotest extremitles. Therefore it is the intention of your guests, at this meeting, to feel at home and to appreciate right heartily your kindness and courtesy to us. Of course, our main object in coming here, is the good of our profession. Pharmacy, like the professions of law and medicine, is benefited by interchange of thought and experience, by the friction of differing minds and there is no better way of bringing this about than by annually meeting in convention. There is benefit to us other than the elevation of our parmacentical standard. Our pecuniary interests often need to be looked after for the general good, and these meetings are often the means of uniting us for profitable ends. In conclusion it gives me great pleasure to again thank you for finding your latch string hanging charming daughter. Mrs. Rankin proved an agreeable and pleasant hostess and all were captivated by her charming manners. An elegant collation including all the delicacies of the season, was spread, and was heartily enjoyed by all present. The music for the occasion was exquisite, and under its delightful strains the time flew rapidly away. The two hours at the reception are memorable to all who were present. The reception was the crowning act of the day's proceedings, and the hospitality of Dr. Rankin and his family will be pleasantly remembered.

To the Pysicians of Atlanta and Vicinity. An interesting exhibit of thereapeutic separations from Messrs. Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit Michigan, is being made before the druggists convention to-day at Concordis hall, under the charg of Drs. J. W. Stone and F. M. Odena, who respectfully request your personal visit and inspection.

Notice to Users of City Water.

Notice to Users of Oity Water.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1, 1885.
The board of water com missioners met to-day at 4 p. m., with a full board in attendance, including his honor, the mayor, and the following resolutions were adopted:
Resolved 1. That from and after the first day of July next, all water drawn from the city mains, except for fires, sewers and sprinkling carts, shall pass through a meter, to be furnished by the consumer, and the superintendent is instructed to give publishing the same for thirty days in the Constitution and Journal, and by sending a postal to the office or residence of each rated consumer, and further to notify all owners of private fire Atures that meters must be attached to the same.

Resolved 2. That from and after the first day of July next, every consumer shall be required to pay at least eighty-five cents per month for the use of the water, for which they shall be allowed to use five thousand gallons, and every consumer who shall use more than five thousand gallons at the rate of seventeen cents per thousand gallons at the rate of seventeen cents per thousand gallons until otherwise ordered. This resolution does not apply to city fire hydrants, flushing sewers, sprinkling carts, nor public schools.

From the Americus, Ga. Recorder.

Saturday an ex-confederate soldier was in this city soliciting aid for himself and family. His case is perhaps as sad as any we ever heard. While in a battle his horse was shot from under him, and he was thrown and trampled on, his back being broke and eausing paralysis of the limbs. Nineteen weeks ago while working in Macon he had his leg broken and has been in the hospital ever since. He has a wife and five children, and until he was hurt in Macon he managed to support them, but now they are in the poor house. He started to friends in Thomasville, but his money gave out when he reached this city, and he was soliciting eid. He is harlly able to walk, only doing so by the utmost effort. He is a finely proportion of man, and but for his afflictions would be as strong as any. He told his story in a straightforward way that carried conviction with it. From the Americus, Ga. Reco

Four of my brothers and sisters had died with consumption, and about three years ago I became so exhausted by a long continued cough, accompanied with low fever and night sweats, that I could barely get about and my friends gave up all hope. Athens, Ga., June 26, 1884.

I have been familiar for a number of years with the general character of Prof. Horsford's phos-phate preparations. Recent examinations made some of the "Acid Phosphate" and "Bread Preparation," show them to be exactly what is claimed for them in the circulars accompanying the packages. The "Acid Phosphate" is a concentra-ted solution in water of Acid Phosphate of Lime, "Bread Preparation" is a mix of Acid Phosphate lime carbonate of sods and flour. When mixed with water, carbonic acid gas is liberated and a double phosphate of lime and sods is formed and remains in the bread when baked. In ordinary cream of tartar baking powders the substance left in the bread after "raising" is rochelle salts—a double tartrate of soda and potash. The phosphates are usefu mineral substances in animal nutrition and growth, the tartrates are not. In my opinion the Phosphatic Powder is, therefore, preferable to the others, so far as healthfulness is concerned. H. C. WHITE,

Preparing to Prevent the Introduction of Chelera-The Cklahoma Beomers Rebuffed-The Latest News From Panama-Facts From the National Capitol-Eto-Eto,

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The attorney general has given an opinion to the president, affirming the eligibility of General A. R. Lawton, of Georgia, for appointment as minister to Russia. Although no official information has been received by the marine hospital bureau of the exister ce of cholera in any part of Europe, the authorities are taking every possible precau-tion to prevent its introduction into this country. THE TRIAL OF WALES.

Counsel for ex-Surgeon General Wales appeared before the supreme court of the United States to day, for the purpose of petitioning for a writ of habeas corpus. When Judge Wilson arose to present the petition his attention was called by the chief justice to an act passed on the last day of the last session of congress, by the provisions of lower courts in habeas corpus cases to the supreme court of the United States. In the opinion of the chief justice, informally expressed, this law precluded action of the court upon petitions in cases of this character as heretofore practiced, and u ade it necessary that the matter shoul i come through the channel of an appeal from a decision of the lower court. Counsel did not, therefore, present the petition. They will make an appeal to morrow from the decision of the supreme court of the district of Columbia, in overruling Dr. Wales's demurrer to the return of the secretary of the navy upon the writ of habeas corpus, and in discharging the writ.

The Wales court martial reconvened at two writ of theese corpus, and in discharging the writ.

The Wales court martial reconvened at two o'clock to-day, and the steps taken, together with those proposed to be taken before the supreme court, were described by the counsel, whose remarks embodied the suggestion that further proceedings be suspended pending the decision of the supreme court of the United States. The judge advocate objected to any further delay than from day to day, antil counsel were able to state definitely when the supreme court would take action upon the proposed appeal. It was agreed that this latter proposition should prevail, and the court adjourned until to-morrow.

REMORS IN CIRCULATION.

Rumors were current here to-day to the effect that gross frauds and irregularities had been discovered in the treasury department; that Secretary Manning and Assistant Secretary Fairchild had been in consultation with reference thereto, and that a general and thorough investigation would begin at once. In reply to questions upon the subject, both Secretary Manning and Assistant Secretary Fairchild said that the rumors were entirely without foundation.

EDMONDS AS A PARTNER. How a Confidential Greek Brought Syldence to Light, Wassiscren, April 15.—The creditors of the banking firm of Squire & Co., this city, which suspended about a year ago, have been endeavoring to show that Mr. Edmonds, one of the district commissioners, was a partner in the firm, and as such was responsible for its debts. The proceedings were instituted in the courts by these creditors to establish the fact of Edmonds's partnership in the concern, and a mass of testimony has been taken in the case. In the taking of this testimony there was discovered the copy of an agreement between Squire and Edmonds, dated September 1, 1889, which sets forth that Edmonds had delivered to Squire, for investment, $34,000, which was to be used by the latter in $34,000, which was to be used by the latter in the purchase of army and navy pay ac-counts, when the investment would yield a mouthly profit of two per cent or more, of which profits Edmonds was to receive every a nonthly profit of two per cent or more, of which profits Edmonds was to receive every month a sum equivalent to 1½ per cent on the sum invested, and Squire was to retain the remainder. This agreement came to light in a rather sensational manner. Whan Edmonds filed an answer to the bill of the creditors of the firm against him, he included the copy of an agreement dated August I, 1883, and said that it was the only agreement between him and Squires. Jay B. Smith, however, who was Squires's confidential clerk, produced on examination the agreement of September I, 1880, which had been form in small pieces and pasted together, and testified that after Squires's assignment the paper was taken from the safe by Squires and torn up, and that he (Smith) picked up and pasted the pieces together. The body of the agreement is in the handwriting of Commissioner Edmonds. It was developed also in the testimony that the original of the agreement of August I, 1883, of which Edmonds filed a copy with his answer to the bill of the creditors, had been altered so as to materially change its character, and that the alterations of the document had been made at different times. three different edifferent times. of the document had been made at different times, three different kinds of ink having been used in the document. Expert testimony was introduced to the effect that the changes in the agreement were written in eight or nine months after the body of the agreement was written.

Washington, April 15.—The Post prints an interview yesterday between Captain Couch, the leader of the Oklahoma "boomers," and the secretary of the interior, with regard to the Oklahoma lands, in the course of which Secretary Lamar said: "What is it you wish?"

"I want to know what course the administration has determined to pursue with referration has determined to pursue with reference to Oklahoma and the settlers," replied Captain Couch.

"Well, sir, I will state to you the policy of Laptain Couch.

"Well, sir, I will state to you the policy of this administration with regard to the Oxlahoma country," said the secretary. "It considers the Oxlahoma territory, on which the persons you represent are proposing to take attlements, as within and part of Indian territory. The administration regards it as not a part of the public domain open to entry and soilement and acquisition of titles under the land laws of the United States. Being ladian country—that is territory acquired and reserved for Indian occupation, the government is pledged to the protection of it and the security of the Indians from intrigues. No white persons have the right to go there and reside without a permit, and when they do go they are intruders, who are acting illegally and wrongfully. The policy of the President is to execute the pledge of the government and to protect this territory from the intrusion of white persons who claim that they have a right to enter upon it and that it was public domain subject to pre-emption and homestead settlement."

"It is, and it will be enforced," said Mr.

"It is, and it will be enforced," said Mr.
